I really hope you can do something to lower the premiums of CareFirst, which I read in the Oct. 25 Wash. Post (p.7C) are under investigation by your office. (The article said statements from the public were being accepted by your office until Nov. 2, but I can't find any special provision for that on the DC website). I now pay CareFirst $429 a month just for myself, a significant chunk of money that I am now having to pay out of savings, as I am presently unemployed! Especially due to the latter situation, I wrote CareFirst a letter in Sept. BEGGING them not to raise my rate again at my renewal time in January. I just can't take another increase!!!
